

Init will premiere COPILOTgo, which puts the company's intermodal transport control system onboard computer functionalities on a Windows tablet. All Init onboard computers already use this operating system, and all software, including the user interface, is identical to that used on the onboard computers; only peripherals in the vehicle cannot be connected to the tablet. ■